On this Suggested Framework for a

Community Based Model for Aged Care in Australia

*We, as a community, must take on the responsibility for our frail and elderly.
It is our privilege and our right to nurture and honour our valued senior citizens.*

The Public Consensus on Australia's Aged Care Provision Today

A year ago the voices of Daniel's Shield and a few other lobby groups in Australia were the only ones publicly decrying the current aged care system in Australia as being inadequate.

Our frail and elderly continue to suffer the serious consequences of poor quality care in many facilities.

Now, only a year later, these voices have been heard and the consensus of all groups with a vested interest in aged care have spoken out and are urgently calling for radical changes to the current systems.

Groups and Entities Calling for Change include:

- Directors' of Nursing and staff from all levels
- the CEO's of large provider groups
- families
- the Commissioner for Ageing,
- senior politicians including Ms Margaret May, Shadow Minister for Ageing
- CEO's of the Industry Provider groups
- Peak Industry groups including Aged Care Australia CEO, Mr Rod Young
